Erin Allison is a consultant and accredited Equine Appraiser. Her specialty is in the Hunter, Jumper, and English disciplines. Ms. Allison brings experience in both the corporate and agricultural sectors to TEE and has been a lifelong passionate learner and participant in the equestrian industry. With over 20 years of experience showing and working in Hunter/Jumper farms and competing at AA shows across the country including major venues such as Wellington International, the Kentucky Horse Park, and the World Equestrian Center – Ocala, Ms. Allison brings an understanding of the business, showing and recreational side of the equine industry.

Ms. Allison grew up riding and competing on the A/AA Circuit. While completing her undergraduate degree at the University of Mississippi, she was a member of the Ole Miss Equestrian IHSA team and served as the Social Media Chair from Fall 2017 to Spring 2018. She also rode with Memphis trainer David Pellegrini while competing with her horse, A Bionda CWF, in the Amateur Owner Hunters. In 2021, while pursuing her master's degree at the University of Texas at Dallas, she worked as a freelance groom for Grand Prix rider Nicole Carter in Ocala before traveling to Lexington Kentucky as a full-time Working student at Finally Home Farm. She has a full understanding of the boarding and training industry, as well as care, custody, and control. Ms. Allison has shown as an Amateur/Owner in the Hunters and Amateur Jumpers up to 1.15 meters. Ms. Allison was working towards qualifying for the International Hunter Derby finals before her mare's injury resulting in her retirement. In 2022 Ms. Allison declared her professional status and started riding and teaching at Double L Stables in Argyle Texas while she was in graduate school. She has now applied for her amateur status back and is the process of training her young Warmblood she bred for the future jumpers.

She has been working at The Equine Expert LLC as a legal services researcher and administrative assistant on equine lawsuits and appraisals, and will continue to work in research while developing her appraisal practice.
